27/04/2010

Oriens Advisors, aviation consultants specialising in the entry level jet sector, has signed a Memorandum of Understanding with Miami-based commercial aviation and aerospace advisory and consulting firm InterFlight Global Corporation, IFG.

“Oriens has focused mainly on the European value chain in the cost-effective personal jet transportation sector. The agreement with IFG broadens our range giving us feet on the ground in two of the most important international aviation marketplaces,” says Edwin Brenninkmeyer, CEO of Oriens Advisors. “Whilst IFG has global reach, they have a very strong US focus. Now, with Oriens as a partner, IFG will be better positioned to support clients looking for opportunities in Europe and we hope to add value to their existing client services,” he continues.

Oriens and IFG have already begun working with mutual clients including a UK light jet operation that was looking for operational support.
